Dredging Program Gets Council Okay

A plan whereby the Corps of Engineers will use the old city land fill and Windmill Island for its dredged materials for 10 years was approved by City Council Wednesday night.

The arrangement provides that the Corps of Engineers will construct dikes at both the old land fill and at the 12-acre island which houses Windmill De Zwaan, so that no dredged materials from the shipping channel of Lake Macatawa will drain back into the lake.

The necessary soil borings, site preparation and diking will be completed before dredging operations begin. Plans call for the dredged materials to be pumped onto the old land fill site in the spring and allowed to settle and dry. It will be trucked onto Windmill Island in the late fall, winter or early spring.

It is estimated up to 160,000 cubic yards of fill can be utilized at the island site, and plans call for 16,000 cubic yards each year at an estimated cost of $8,000 to $16,000 per year chargeable to Windmill Island.

The Corps of Engineers, which has been working with the city for several years on a suitable site for confinement of dredged materials, expects to complete construction work by July, 1976, and the program then will continue for 10 years.

Cooperating in the study were the Planning Commission, Windmill Island, engineering department, the city manager's office and environmental groups.

The city manager was authorized to provide the Department of Natural Resources with the necessary assurances regarding site selection.

In other business, a city attorney reported informed Council of the Court of Appeals ruling June 27 reversing the Circuit Court decision on South Shore Dr. street assessments. Inasmuch as the original plaintiffs have 20 days to prepare an appeal to the Supreme Court, further comment was withheld.

Bernard Bouwman, 726 Pine Ave., appeared on behalf of the World Home Bible League's Project Philip, asking that literature be made available at Windmill Island. In view of the possibility that this might be in violation of federal laws separating church and state, the request was referred to the city attorney for study.

An inquiry from Councilman Donald Oosterbaan on blacktopping revealed that the "thin" coating of asphalt at local street improvement sites was only the first layer and that specifications call for a two-inch cover.

Teaching Staff Near Completion

Contracts for seven new staff members were approved by the Board of Education at its monthly meeting in Harrington School Monday night, bringing to 20 the number of new teachers hired thus far for the new school year starting in September.

Personnel Director Gardner Wierenga said 4½ teachers (the half is for a half-day elementary teacher) remain to be hired to complete the staff and he anticipated no particular problem in signing the remainder. He said 11 teachers have retired, five resigned, two were dismissed and five are on leave of absence.

Contracts were approved for Marjo Fenske, a 1954 Albion College graduate with four years' experience, Van Raalte School; Scott Hoover, a 1973 Grand Valley graduate with no experience, Harrington School; Marlene Kuite, a 1972 Hope College graduate with three years' experience, Lakeview School; Cheryl Meyers, a 1966 Michigan State graduate with six years' experience, Lakeview School; Jacquelyn Van Duren, a 1953 Michigan State graduate with two years' experience, Montello School.

Hired on the secondary level is Mary Finke, a 1969 Manhattanville College graduate with a 1974 master's degree at Wright State University, two years' experience, counselor Junior High School; and for special education, Dr. John Hoogstra who has a 1973 Ph.D. from Michigan State, 12 years' experience, school psychologist.

Supt. Donald L. Ithman informed the board that the Ottawa County Allocations Commission was meeting today in Grand Haven to explore possibilities of adopting millage for schools in the county. Dr. Wayne Woodby represents the Holland board on the commission.

A communication from Police Chief Charles Lindstrom informed the board that due to budgetary limits, there would be cutbacks in certain safety programs in the schools.

Buildings and Grounds Supt. Ed Prins outlined work being done this summer in the various school buildings with the help of six or seven students available to regular custodial staffs through government program assistance.

A site-sound presentation of a camping experience of 80 Harrington School fifth and sixth graders last May provided a new dimension for elementary student experience. The students had spent three days at Camp Concordia near Greenville in an extension of a camping program begun in 1956. Principal Don Rohlik who accompanied the campers made some interesting comparisons of costs in 18 years. The slides were shown by Mrs. Carl Woltman who shared the camp experience. Other adults were John Kleis, Ed Yonker, Bob Haveman, Doug Law and a conservation resource man.

The board approved a revision in the physical examination policy for students enrolled in gym. Exams no longer will be required for seventh and ninth graders but are required for preschoolers. Although the policy is relaxed, parents are encouraged to have regular checkups for their children.

The board also approved a request from the Hamilton Board of Education to participate in Holland Special Education program and recommended appointment of a junior high school representative to the Social Studies Summer Workshop.

President James O. Lamb presided at the meeting which lasted just over an hour. Robert Gosselaar gave the invocation. It was the first regular meeting for Deanna De Pree, new member. John Amaya was absent.

In Lake Macatawa

Boat Burns, Sinks; Six Escape Injuries

Six persons escaped injuries when their 21-foot cabin cruiser exploded, caught fire, burned to the water line and sank in Lake Macatawa Thursday at 8:51 a.m.

Ottawa County sheriff's deputies said the vessel was operated by Douglas Gritter, 21, of 861 Shadybrook and had left Bay Haven Marina for Lake Michigan when the engine trouble developed.

Gritter said he stopped the vessel and was preparing to check the engine compartment when the explosion occurred. The vessel was in flames in seconds, he said.

Gritter and his passengers jumped into the water and two civilian boats nearby picked them up and took them to shore. The Coast Guard was notified and arrived from Lake Michigan where they were towing a disabled sailboat.

Passengers on board the Gritter boat included Von Deur, Richard and Lisa Mosher of Holland and Terry and Linda Boerman of Zeeland.

Deputies said the cause of the explosion was under investigation. Damage estimates were not immediately available.

Encourage Use of Existing Haulers

Olive Township Landfill Closed

GRAND HAVEN — The Northwest Ottawa Sanitary Landfill in Olive township has been closed by the Ottawa County Board of Commissioners. The landfill near the Pigeon Creek park, long a subject of controversy, is now closed, and the Special Solid Waste Committee and the Blue Ribbon Citizens Solid Waste Committee have been dissolved.

These actions were taken by the board at its monthly meeting here Monday.

The board is encouraging utilization of existing haulers operating within the county. Trash and garbage can be hauled to landfill sites in Muskegon, Park township and De Yong's Landfill near Marne at established fees. The Muskegon and Park township landfills are open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturday from 8 a.m. to noon; and the Marne landfill, Wednesday afternoons only.

In dismissing the two committees, the board again is assuming responsibility in planning solid waste management, and is asking local units, once they have decided on haulers and collection sites, to check with the board so that an overall program of solid wastes disposal can be coordinated.

In other business, the board was informed of plans for emergency preparedness for all county employees in the form of a 1½-hour session this fall for training in disasters and recovery. The board approved purchase of a new ¾-ton pickup truck with rescue equipment for $7,300 for Ottawa County Emergency Services affiliated with Civil Defense. The new term of Office of Emergency Preparedness is in keeping with federal regulations.

In a special ceremony in the presence of the board, Mrs. Howard Dorgelo, of Holland, self-help director for 12 years with emergency services, was presented with a certificate of merit and a plaque by the State Department of Health. Each year Mrs. Dorgelo has coordinated high schools in self-help programs and has taught adult groups in industry and private groups, averaging 1,200 per year. Her goal is to train one member per family to cope with disaster, natural or man-made. The presentation was made by Bill Powell of the Department of Health, Lansing.

The board authorized a new 10-foot chain link fence with redwood slats around the county jail, following state regulations. Low bid of $3,479 was approved. The board was informed that bars on windows would be more costly. In August, the board will hear a report on a jail rehabilitation study by the Community Corrections Resource Programs Inc.

Commissioner Herbert Wybenga of Zeeland told the board that his committee is working with northside industries in Holland to stagger their closing hours in an effort to reduce traffic congestion over the River Ave. bridge. Work also is being done toward widening East Lakewood Blvd., from the junction near the C and O Muskegon line to US-31 plus some access roads at the US-31 crossing. Such an arrangement could divert more traffic from River Ave., it is believed.

Hope Receives Science Grant

The National Science Foundation (NSF) has presented a $7,300 matching grant to the Hope College Chemistry Department, to purchase scientific equipment for the organic chemistry and biochemistry laboratories.

The new equipment will enable the incorporation of new laboratory experiments designed to introduce students to modern methods and techniques in the basic science related to the understanding of the life processes. These changes in the chemistry program reflect the changing needs of students interested in pursuing careers in the biological and health sciences.

The proposal for the grant was jointly written by Drs. Michael Doyle, Lynn Hoepfinger, and William Mungall of the chemistry department. The NSF funds have been matched by industrial grants to the College.

Confidence Men Operating Here

Holland police Friday alerted residents to the so called "pigeon drop" confidence game which has been attempted unsuccessfully about three times in the past two weeks on area residents.

Victims have been older persons who are contacted by telephone concerning their bank savings account and asked to withdraw their funds and meet the caller. The caller usually says there has been a bank error in the account and by withdrawing the funds the caller can double check on possible wrongdoing at the bank.

Police emphasized that bank personnel investigating alleged wrongdoings work through police departments in the investigation and urged residents receiving such contacts by telephone to call them.

EARL WARREN, MAN OF COURAGE

Chief Justice Earl Warren, who died Tuesday at 83, will long be remembered as a man of courage. During his 16 years on the bench of the highest court in the land, he not only jarred a good share of the Republican party but even more so the conservative Democratic South.

The controversies he aroused as a liberal Republican are expected to continue in many circles long after his death.

His courage, if not always his judgement, is to be admired. The 1954 school desegregation decision is best known, becoming the most important and far-reaching decision of a series of civil rights and criminal law enforcement rulings.

Though the Warren court tended to overreach itself, it produced lasting benefits in getting school desegregation off dead center.

Today, a new generation of Supreme Court justices has begun to modify, wisely in some cases, the Warren approach to social and criminal issues. Step by step, the current court is restoring the authority of police to arrest and search suspects without being snagged by absurd legal technicalities.

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday, July 14
Renewed in Mind and Spirit
Ephesians 4:17-32
By C. P. Dame

This is the last of a series of three lessons from the Epistle to the Ephesians. Paul follows the usual pattern, the first three chapters deal with doctrine, the last three stress the practical. This lesson teaches that being a Christian calls for a distinct mode of life.

I. Unbelievers express themselves. Gentile Christians in Ephesus had a pagan past. They had always been religious but it did not affect their conduct. The Christian faith demands. Some were tempted to yield to the old ways, give, bend a bit here and there, the way some do today.

Paul warned believers and portrayed paganism. In sharp words he wrote about its thinking, greediness, passions, stone-like hardness of heart, its stubbornness to do its own thing, its loss of decency, sense of shame, depravity, uncleanness of their pleasures, conduct and pursuits. All these evils were due to their wilful ignorance of God. Today there is a revival of paganism seen in the permissiveness and promiscuity which openly abound.

II. Christianity demands a new mode of life. These Ephesian Christians had been taught a mode of life differing from paganism. "You did not so learn Christ," so wrote Paul. Learning from Christ means more than learning about Christ. Christians must do two things—put off the old self and put on the new self daily. This is a process. Christians are expected to be different from unbelievers. Are they today? The old must make way for the new. Take note of the likeness of God in true righteousness and holiness. The God of the Bible is the Christian's model.

III. Believers also express themselves. Every Christian, even in these days of positive thinking, must have some doubts in life. Christians must put virtues where sins control. The sins Paul mentions are says Paul and tell the truth because you belong to each other. "Be angry and sin not."

Anger has a place in life. Jesus got angry, see Mark 3:5 and Matthew 5:22. Instead of excusing sin be angry with it, and when angry at a person do not keep a grudge but straighten matters out before dark. Stealing, cheating, about and being wrong. Do not grieve the Holy Spirit who seals us for the day of redemption but use speech to magnify God. Christians should banish bitterness, wrath, anger, clamor, slander, malice which reveal the old self, and be kind to each other, "tenderhearted forgiving one another as God in Christ forgave you." God is our model.

It will be helpful to place the virtues Paul cites over against the sins which he condemns—the contrast will be striking. The virtues will become more beautiful, the sins more terrible.

City Okays Property Purchase

City Council devoted a full 40 minutes to a discussion of a new west end park Wednesday night before voting 7-1 to exercise the options on several parcels between Bay and Black Bass Aves. in the vicinity of Floral Ave. at a cost of $24,400 to be financed from federal revenue sharing funds. Dissenting vote was cast by Councilman Hazen Van Kampen.

The vote to acquire the property was not tied specifically to park purposes. Some options are running out in less than two weeks.

Among the opponents were Mrs. David Feters, 1210 Floral Ave., who presented petitions bearing 56 signatures opposing the park development, and Mrs. Frank Sharkey, 1229 Floral, who felt all children in the area have ample yards to play in.

Both women and others opposing park development were generally concerned over threats to a quiet residential neighborhood, the feeling that residents and a feeling that the money could be put to better use in many other ways.

Mrs. Julius Overway felt there was a need for a neighborhood park and said many residents favored such a development.

Mayor Lou Hallacy said that when federal revenue sharing became available, emphasis was on recreation and a view to long range needs. He said the Planning Commission had considered sites all over the city, and the Black Bass site was being recommended as within walking distance for children in the Central Park area who are considerable distances from playgrounds at Lakeview and Harrington Schools, both on busy 32nd St.

City Manager William L. Bopf said the area is amenable to park development, but not to residential development because of a high water table. He said in park development every effort is made to save good trees and there was little likelihood that a wooded area would be leveled for a softball field. Assistant City Manager Terry Hofmeyer showed a map of the area, but said no designs had been determined.

Councilman Robert Dykstra said many people who favored park development in Central Park area could not be present for the meeting. He said he had visited the park development at 20th and College and had talked with residents in the area who said the playground had presented no problems and that previous apprehensions were unfounded.

Councilman Kenneth Beelen pointed to the need of thinking of future generations and long range planning for recreation.

Closest park to Central Park area is the De Graaf Nature Center which is not a playground.

At the close of the meeting, Councilman Al Kleis Jr. presented 19 pages of petitions opposing the closing of 10th St. at Lincoln Park where further development also is scheduled. Kleis' motion to rescind previous action closing part of 10th St. between Columbia and Lincoln Aves. was tabled for two weeks. It was stated that the federal grant for the park development remains open until the end of the year.

Marius Pott, 80 West 11th St., representing several residents in the area, protested development of additional parking area at City Hall and favored retention of the tulip plantings on West 12 St. City Manager Bopf said he had directed the park development not to plant tulips there next fall but plenty of time remains to change plans. It was indicated Council would consider the matter at a study session. It was pointed out that long range plans through the years call for parking expansion in that area.

Simon's 'Prisoner' Opens at Red Barn

"The Prisoner of Second Avenue" by Neil Simon, billed as a comedy, was misnamed by the author as the audience at the Red Barn soon learned at the opening performance Monday night.

The Simon popular lines were funny, and the ybrought laughs, but who can really believe that losing a job, standing in the unemployment line and then being robbed is a comedy?

The convincing setting was well-designed, Ted Kistler did a fine job of his casting and direction and the leads were doing their best to make it a comedy, but it just wasn't up to what audiences expect of Neil Simon.

Mel Edison, played by T. Botsford Davidson with all the ranting and raving of a "prisoner" is aided in his desperation by his devoted and frustrated wife, Edna, well-played by Julie Bellisle. The two have all the burden of the lines except in one scene.

Don Bonevich, adaptable to all circumstances, plays Mel's rich brother, who would like to be the "favorite" of the family for one moment. The three sisters have small but important vignettes. Paula Dewey plays Pearl, Karen Kalensky is Jessie and Deborah Nelson is Pauline.

On a very hot night, one of the best bits was the drenching Mel received from the balcony above. The entire audience, taken by surprise by the splash, enjoyed every bit of it the first time and then again at the finale.

Herrick Library Gets Sum From Allegan Foundation

Herrick Public Library has received a gift of $1,380 from the Allegan Foundation which was created in 1965 by Earl W. De Lano, Chester A. Ray and Ethel W. Stone.

The gift was presented by Ammon Schreuer, representing the foundation, who said the amount was figured on the basis of the more than 9,000 residents of Allegan county who are served by Herrick Public Library. Nine other libraries in Allegan county received corresponding gifts from the foundation.

Although the foundation was created in 1965, its first organizational meeting was held in 1969. Income from the foundation, less charges and expenses, is devoted to bettering conditions in Allegan county and to making its citizens and those within its bounds healthier and happier.

The income is used for educational, charitable or public purposes as determined by the distributing committee.

Current trustees are Ammon Schreuer, president; Leonard Healey, vice president; Lucy Clair, secretary - treasurer; Weldon Rumery and Howard Hartman, trustees.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. Dan Barber and the minutes of the former meeting were read and approved.

Correspondence was read from members unable to attend and an offering was taken toward a contribution to the scholarship fund in memory of Margaret Jane Suydam, former Ottawa County Extension home economist.

Lunch was served by the hostess and co-hostess, Marie Nienhuis and Anna Mae Prins.

BUSY RETIREMENT — Jacob Jongekrijg retired recently from the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Co. after "45 years of lunch buckets" which his wife filled almost every day. In addition to keeping active in township government and operation, Jongekrijg plans to delve into woodworking and gardening. (Sentinel photo)

Jacob Jongekrijg Eyes Active Retirement Years

By Ann Hungerford
"So they put up with you long enough," the genial gentleman jests.

"Dealing with people like you made me retire," Jacob Jongekrijg rigorously retorted, his face betraying obvious delight in the kidding.

The occasion marked Jongekrijg's brief return to the local C and O railroad depot where he was employed for 45 years.

During an interview in the rustic office Jack endured intermittent affectionate and good natured ribbing from business acquaintances as well as fellow workers.

"This was..." he pauses... reflects, "This was my desk." Retirement has been in effect only a day. The word "was" comes awkwardly to him.

"Any regrets about retiring? "None," he admits, "there are too many things I want to do."

Running for township office on the Aug. 6 primary ballot will take much of his time but he also plans to indulge in gardening on his one acre of land and another hobby, wood crafts — carving and furniture making.

Jongekrijg and his wife, Mabel, have two children of their own and have been guardians to four orphans.

"We are a family of six children. Word it real nice," he asks earnestly, "I'm proud of every one of them." He words it best.

The old adage that the wife's work begins when the husband retires doesn't apply to the Jongekrijgs: "My wife is looking forward to having me home," he says proudly.

Beginning in 1929 — "when anyone who had a job was fortunate to have kept it" — as a section laborer, Jongekrijg worked up through C and O with another seven positions until his retirement from the C and O as senior clerk on July 1.

Though his duties involved much paper work—routes, rates, acquiring enough freight cars for shippers—Jongekrijg's most vivid, though sad recollections, are of World War II days when crowds poured into the depot to see servicemen off.

His greatest regret is the discontinuation of passenger trains in the Holland area — "from eight trains a day to none" — passenger trains which played a big part of his children's early lives.

He recalls one day when the train from Grand Rapids to Traverse City blew its whistle more than any other time. His son rode in the engineer's seat and blew the whistle at the sight of every white post no matter which side of the track it was on.

Despite the resurgence in recent months of train travel Jongekrijg wouldn't predict but doubted passenger service
